

Creative Dance is an exploration into the creative process of Dance as living Art. A workshop focused on this essential creative connection through improv, musical interpretation and the territory and trust of silence. A process in which all are part of the creative unfolding individually and collectively, encouraging an ethical model of artistic depth, value and oneness. Creative Dance is an opportunity intending to give students a valuable and rare experience to connect and trust in their own artistic gifts and to create individually and together an original piece for the early spring Illuminate show. The class will be structured to serve as a template for mature creative and artistic pre~professional company experience. Due to the collaborative nature of this class, attendance is a must, and makeup classes will be required at dancers expense. WCA and instructors reserve the right to cut any dancer from the performance if attendance hinders their ability to perform as part of a group. This class does not perform in Polar Express, and runs October 1-Feb 4th with a performance in Illuminate on Feb 8. It is essential that those who enroll in this journey have the courage and depth to commit to and trust in the mystery and unknown within creative alchemy.

Instructor: Caroline Richardson

Basic structure: Contemporary/Modern

Required: Ballet flats and An Open~Brave Heart Spirit and Mind.